Please be informed and properly guided by the recent announcement of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that laborers, temporary and casual employees in the government service are exempted from the rule previously issued that public officers are required to file statements of assets, liabilities, and networth "irrespective of the nature of their position and regardless of the amount of their gross assets".

These employees, however, together with barangay officers, classroom teachers, and barrio officials, should file their statements if their gross assets as of December 30, 1973 is P50,000.00 or over.

This memorandum amends Memorandum Circular No. 10-b, s. 1974 of this Office.
